

The Art of Leading Collectively

Navigating complex change with multiple actors.

10 – 13 OCTOBER 2018

SIEM REAP, CAMBODIA

ENGLISH

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Are you starting a complex cooperation project, or are you in the midst of one you want to improve?

Do you need to shift the mind-set of stakeholders toward collaboration, or to find new ways to overcome challenges?

Do you need to arrive at tangible outcomes in a short time frame?

This course will help you to implement more outcome oriented and constructive co-creation on a day-to-day basis for yourself, your team, your organisation, and your change initiative with diverse stakeholders. It equips dedicated change makers in public, private, and civil society organisations with a tool for better co-creation. The dimensions of collective leadership can be learned and enhanced - individually and collectively.

THE BOOK ON THE COURSE

The book is a guide to collaborative impact for leaders in industry, government and social change networks. Readers learn how to tackle system change for sustainable development, reimagine leadership as a collaborative endeavour, retrain leaders to work collectively, and manage diverse groups through a change process that has sustainability as a guiding focus.

YOUR KEY TAKE-AWAYS

- ✓ Keep your collaboration journey on track with the 6 dimensions of the © Collective Leadership Compass
- ✓ Assess where you are, define what is present and what is missing
- ✓ Map the path, adjust strategies, and know what to shift, to strengthen, or to focus on
- ✓ Convince colleagues and partners that leading collectively will ease the management of complex change
- ✓ Take the content of the book 'The Art of Leading Collectively' into the practice of outcome-oriented and constructive co-creation.

COURSE FACULTY

Elisabeth Kuehn

Project Manager at the Collective Leadership Institute

Elisabeth Kuehn is an experienced international project manager in sustainable natural resource management and integration of marginalized communities. She worked extensively on informal sector integration, economic development, good governance, as well as environmental issues in Tunisia and Morocco and the whole MENA region. She now develops CLI's strategy on projects in the region, and facilitates courses. She holds a Master degree in International Relations from Durham University and a second Master degree from the Department for International Development at the University of Oxford.

CLI'S REPUTATION

Founded in 2005 with offices in Germany, South Africa and the United States, the Collective Leadership Institute is an international non-profit organisation with the mission to scale up collaboration skills for a sustainable future. Our capacity building approach empowers people and organisations to address sustainability challenges successfully with a focus on high quality stakeholder collaboration, dialogic change and collective leadership. More than 2900 alumni of our programmes being professionally active in more than 100 countries, as well as more than 25 successfully supported projects showcase our experience in helping to shift multi-actor collaboration to deliver tangible results in change initiatives.
